

(COOL) FUN AT HOME : DAY 22

DOLPHIN DISCOVERY

EXPLORE OUTSIDE

BLOWHOLE BUBBLES: Get out the bubble solution and step outside with your little one(s) to make your day “pop.” Dolphins breathe air just like we do, but instead of a nose, they have a blowhole. Talk to your child about how dolphins also make/blow bubbles when pushing out air underwater (just like we do when we swim!)

LEARN

LEARN ABOUT DOLPHINS WITH THE NATIONAL AQUARIUM: Have your child join Sam of Nat Geo Kids as she visits and learns about the dolphin friends at the National Aquarium right here in Baltimore!

CREATIVITY CHALLENGE

MAKE A DOLPHIN SILHOUETTE SUNCATCHER: For your child to make this craft, all you need is a coffee filter, water colors, some glue and blue or black paper? These beautiful sun catchers will look great hanging on your windows! You can learn how to make it and access free patterns at A Little Pinch of Perfect!

MOVE

DOLPHIN YOGA STORY TIME: Your child will love stretching and moving with Popcorn the dolphin and Jamie of Cosmic Kids Yoga during this story time yoga session!

DOLPHIN TALES

Winter is a bottlenose dolphin that was found injured and caught in a crab trap line. She was rescued by Clearwater Marine Aquarium but unfortunately lost her tail due to the injury. Winter managed to teach herself how to swim again without her tail and later adapted to a prosthetic tail. Learn more about her amazing story and try to catch her swimming by on one of the live stream cameras!

PODCAST FUN

In this Brains On podcast, they're asking kids to decide which animal reigns supreme. Is it the eight-armed, three hearted, shape-shifting octopus? Or the speed-swimming, echolocating, super-jumping dolphin?
